Inside Your Congress

Taxes and Your Future

SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Now that President Truman has successfully overridden the will of Congress to have the people's tax burden eased, the prospect for extravagant spending and more inflation increases. Cuts in appropriation bills made by the House will probably now be largely restored in the Senate. A "what's the use" attitude is apt to show itself. To ask a Congressman or Senator to face the wrath of the payroll vote, when he is not able to win anything for the taxpayer, is putting more of a strain on official flesh than it can bear.

Of course, a Congressman should now fight harder than ever. But there are just so many two-minute miles in a trotting horse; just so many all-out fights in a pugilist.
Congress has fought for months to reduce both government spending and taxes. Congress has lost the fight and is probably too tired to try again this year.

As practically all taxes are price increases ordered by government, the task of reducing prices is now much more difficult, if not impossible. So look for continued inflation.

But someday Congress and the people will get their second wind and when they do, the Truman tax veto may have far-reaching effects.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman promised yesterday to administer the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Relations Act faithfully. He urged both labor and industry to exercise restraint and accommodate themselves to the new law. AFL President Green ruled out a general protest strike, but promised a legal fight on the measure and a political fight against all who voted for it. The CIO executive board will consider its course today.

The number of coal miners who have quit work reached 250,000. The walkout was viewed as setting the stage for a general strike throughout the country. John L. Lewis could test the new law. President Truman said he planned no personal action in the mine situation. All work in ten Atlantic Coast shipyards ceased when 35,000 CIO workers struck.

The wool price-support bill was vetoed by President Truman because of its "adverse effects" on this country's international relations.
The president said he would approve the original Senate measure, which the upper house promptly re-passed. The House, 124 to 43, approved "United States" participation in the International Refugee Organization, and a sustaining $73-500,000 appropriation.

Congress was urged to remain in

MILL ST. MERCHANTS STAGE A JUNE SALE

Streetwide Event Attracting Shoppers To The Retail Section of Bristol

MANY FINE OFFERINGS

Mill street merchants are continuing their campaign to keep down the cost of living. The latest step toward this goal is in staging a street-wide June sale of merchandise at greatly reduced prices.

In a large two-page advertisement in the Courier yesterday there were given 22 "examples of substantial reductions," it was stated.

"You won't find price reductions on everything in these stores," read the advertisement. "No merchant could reduce all his prices all at one time and stay in business. You will find evidence in every Mill Street Association store of the determined effort we are making to keep the cost of living down."

Shoppers were found this morning visiting the stores and making purchases in unusual numbers for a Friday morning.

The sale will last today and tomorrow.

Mrs. Rice sang several songs.

PUBLIC BACKS LABOR LAW

In some ways, much the most important point about the new Labor Law is the fact that it represents the will of an overwhelming majority of the American people.

The importance of this rises from the light it throws on what the President, the new National Labor Relations Board, and the nation's labor leaders ought to do, now that the Law has been enacted over the President's veto.

What they ought to do is bow to the will of the American people, and concentrate all their energies upon making the law work.

This would be the reaction of good sportsmanship. These groups lost their fight. They were overruled by Congress—and it would be completely silly to pretend that the Representatives and Senators were ignorant of how their constituents felt on a matter so long considered and so much under discussion.

It would also be the best possible statesmanship—or politics, if that's the word.

Moreover, it would also be the wisest course for those interested in the advancement of the "labor movement." Labor leaders must realize that their tactics of the past two years have drawn down upon them the condemnation of the great bulk of the American people. Whether they wish to call it bowing to the storm, or a sincere reformation, this emphatically is no time for them to stir up a series of "protests" which will be taken by the nation as proof that still sterner repressive laws are needed.

For the labor leaders, the need for a serious effort to conduct their affairs more in line with what the public wishes is emphasized by another point.

The new law, from one point of view, is an enfranchise-ment—a liberation—of the rank and file of union membership.
This is one of the most important phases—and may, in fact, explain the bitterness of certain "labor bosses." Union membership, for the first time in years, is in a position to seize what they never should have let themselves lose—the whip-hand over their own officers and spokesmen.

Many clauses of the new law can be used to break down what has been, in point of fact, a very literal dictatorship in certain unions and groups of unions. Labor unions now can compel their officers to function along democratic lines. Use of union funds now must be accounted for to those who contributed them. And any union which wants to get rid of Communists now can do so.

and Schoolhouse Lane, Eddington, a former Major in the Signal Corps, will be presented the Bronze Star Medal, by Colonel John H. Fye, ex-

Headquarters Mobile Communications Center, Tokyo, Japan and parof battle hazards and obstacles were in continual evidence as he insured the successful continuation of signal facilities operated by General Headquarters Mobile Communications Center, the protection of his command from the threat of desperate moves by isolated Jap pockets, and the transportation, rationing and

OIL IN THE NEWS

The proposed House investigation of oil shipments to Russia and other nations has brought administration action in ordering reimposition of government controls on exports of petroleum. But the government's power to impose such controls expires on June 30, and it is questionable whether Congress, in its present mood, will vote wartime powers to the President.

Certainly there is need for a Congressional investigation of the whole question of American oil resources and what is happening to them. With area shortages of oil expected later this year, it does not make sense for this country to be exporting the stuff—either to its enemies or its friends.

No one knows, of course, how much undiscovered oil there may be under the ground. Probably Russia has more of it than any other nation. But it has been pointed out again and again that America is using up her known oil resources at an alarming rate.
Before World War II, the United States was producing approximately two-thirds of the world's oil output, although this country's known supplies of oil were only one-tenth of the world total.

Without oil, no nation can wage a modern war. If American supplies ran low, it would be necessary to fall back on synthetic oil, made from coal. That, in turn, would call for a greater expansion of the nation's coal output than now seems possible. The safer course is to start conserving the country's resources now by not exporting oil.

The demand for oil is so great in the United States that it is not too soon to plan for increased importation of crude.

RECORD REGAINED

Col. Albert Boyd of the Army Air Forces, flying a Lockheed jet-propelled P-80 Shooting Star, has regained the world's air speed record. The last time an American held it was back in 1923, when Lieut. Al Williams flew a Curtiss plane 267 miles an hour.

Ample proof of what has happened in speed flying since 1923 is provided by the fact that Colonel Boyd exceeded Lieutenant Williams' mark by 356 miles an hour in setting the new record of 623 miles an hour.

It's good that the record is in American hands once more. But this is no time for the nation to rest on its aerial laurels. To hold the record is one thing. To keep on holding it is quite another.

There is a new philosophy called existentialism—a reason for living. Perhaps income tax payers will find relief in cultivation of this.

Truman has endorsed the Harry Hopkins policy of "tax, tax, spend, spend," but how is he going to "elect, elect?"
"Full Tax Revision Urged by Industry"—headline. When Truman urges it, that will be news.

Add the New Normalcy items:
"Steel Production Affected by Coal Strikes."

It is unfortunate that, in their disappointment over the President's defeat in Congress, he and his subordinates and certain labor spokesmen have made predictions that sound like threats.

Many observers expect a deliberate effort, on several fronts, to sabotage the new law—to weaken it from the inside, to refuse to enforce it, to keep it under constant criticism before the public, and to try various legal tricks to evade it.

This would be a calamity; but the silver lining to the cloud would be that those guilty would be the ones who would suffer the worst misfortunes, in the long run.

Why? Simply because at the very least, four-fifths of the American nation is back of the new law, and is determined that it shall be given a chance to operate.

Despite all the labor pressure brought to bear, despite the vigorous work of the White House lobby, and despite the fact that the President made his veto a party issue with a campaign coming up in the near future, the opponents of the bill could muster, on the final vote, a list of Senators representing only 25,000,000 out of the nation's 131,900,000 population (1940 census figures).

This calculation is based on giving each U. S. Senator half of his state's population as his representation. It is, if anything, top-heavy in its allowance for the opposition. It considers Senator Myers, for example, as representing 5,000,000 people in Pennsylvania—whereas the most recent election figures would indicate that he represents only a fourth to a third of this state.

The geographical distribution of the anti-veto vote is most interesting. Of the nine standard divisions of the United States recognized in the U. S. census, the Truman-labor side carried only one—the Rocky Mountain States—and broke even in one —the Pacific Coast states.

All other areas went in favor of the Labor Bill by devastating majorities.

In the New England states, with 12 Senatorial votes, only three supported the veto. These represented 1,500,000 out of a total population of 8,400,000. (Two of the votes were from Rhode Island and one from Connecticut.)

In the Middle Atlantic States, the heavy industrial area where the labor-management tug-of-war has been worst, one lone Senator—Myers of Pennsylvania—voted to uphold the veto. (Senator Wagner of New York, who also would have voted against the Bill, was sick, absent, and did not vote.) The roll-call therefore reflected a population ratio of five million against the law out of a total of twenty-seven million.

In the East-North-Central division—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin—also a battleground of industrial dis-sentiment, again a lone Senator voted to uphold the veto. He was Senator Lucas of Illinois. He represented 3,800,000 people out of a total of 26,000,000 in the area.

The West-North-Central States of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas and Nebraska—the so-called "farm belt," also cast all but one of its fourteen Senatorial votes for the Labor Bill. The exception was Senator Langer (R) of North Dakota; and he represented 320,000 persons out of a total of 13,500,000 in the area.

Of the 16 votes in the South Atlantic States (Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida) only three went to uphold the veto. These represented a population of 2,850,000 out of 17,800,000.

The eight votes in the East-South-Central area (Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi) gave only three to uphold the veto—representing 4,200,000 out of 10,700,000 in population.

The West-South-Central states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, gave only one vote for the veto—1,150,000 out of 13,000,000.

Of the total of 25 votes (to 68) which were cast upholding the President's veto of the Labor Law, no fewer than nine came from the eight Rocky Mountain states of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada.

These states have a total population (1940 census) of 4,100,000—less than one-thirtieth of the national population.
Yet they produced more than a third of the total opposition in the Senate to the Labor Bill.

This vote may be identified as the principal contribution of the White House lobby, which, to put the matter bluntly, is in a particularly strong position in dealing with Senators from these large and thinly populated states.

The vote of the Pacific Coast states (Washington, Oregon and California) broke exactly even—one senator from each state favoring, and one opposing, the Labor Bill. The reasons for this division are too complex for discussion here.

As to where the vote-sentiment actually lies in that area, it is important to note that California's and Washington's Senators who favored the President are (like Myers of Pennsylvania) hold-overs who rode into the Senate on the coat-tails of the Roosevelt Fourth-Term campaign; and that since their elections the tide in those states has turned so that Republican candidates swept into office last November.

on foreign policy. It does not seem likely that the people will continue to send billions overseas when burdened and irritated by high prices and deadening taxes at home.

For a long time, I have said in these columns that "Social Security" under a spending government is a hoax and an illusion; that, in fact, everyone's future was becoming less secure as the resources of the people are wasted by government. It seemed rather plain that when interest on a savings bank account is reduced from 4 to 2 or 1.5 or 1 per cent, the future of the depositor is less secure than it was before. It seemed clear, too, that the loss of earning power of savings was due almost entirely to New Deal policies.

However, I am no longer a voice crying in the wilderness. The Mc-Graw Hill Publishing Company in a full page advertisement has brought this question forcibly to public attention. The ad is entitled, "YOUR CHANCES OF GETTING AHEAD." It makes it plain that your chances are less than they were. Due to high taxes, high cost of living, and reduced earnings on savings, all of which were practically ordered by government, they point out that:

".....the average man's chances of achieving success are really slim-mer now than a generation ago."
".....more people were within striking distance of success and security in 1929 than in 1914. The story has been different since 1929."
"Higher taxes are the most important reason why it takes so much more now to build up a competence.
They account for one-half the increase in the amount needed. The other half is explained by higher living costs and lower interest rates."

As you contemplate the Truman tax veto, keep these figures from McGraw Hill in mind.

NAL SCORE IS 16 TO 2

The Fifth Ward Sporting Club stepped into third place in the Bristol Suburban League by defeating the Fur-Workers, 16-2, last night on Leedom's field.

The Warders had a total of 14 hits, being led at the plate by "Johnny" Cordisco and "Teddie" Tosti, who had three out of four each. One Tosti's hits was a double while Cordisco had a pair of two-baggers.

Joe Sagolla was the starting pitcher for Fifth Ward and Cauti went in to pitch in the third. Sagolla was the winning pitcher. George Bintliffe was the man at the start for the Fur-Workers and he was chased from the mound in the third when "Jim" Cauti went in. Joe Dolan pitched the sixth inning for the losers.

Stan Zucek kept his hitting place in the Fur Workers, getting two hits in three turns at the plate.

ST. CHARLES' LOSES TO WEST BRISTOL NINE

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 27—With George Biggie making his debut on the mound, West Bristol defeated St. Charles, 8-1, on the State Road field last evening.

Aided by errorless support, Biggie held the St. Charles team to one hit in six innings and three hits for the full game. A pair of doubles by B. Garr and F. Brown gave St. Charles its lone run.

St. Charles used three hurlers on the mound. Thomas starting and McClain and Langdon finishing. All three were pounded by the winners with "Wizard" Haines scoring three runs and driving in three others for West Bristol.

"Johnny" Rice and Harry Rhodes

Apiarists Are Told of Swarming Difficulties

WRIGHTSTOWN, June 27—Twenty-seven apiarists took part in the Bucks County Beekeepers' Association field day which was held at the Robinson farm, near here.

The apiarists were told that swarming is difficult to control this season because of the excess of pollen.

Because of the rainy weather, the beekeepers also discovered that it was a bad spring to start package bees, which means bees "imported" with a queen from the South.

C. Arthur Loux, of near Dublin, who has a colony of more than 200 hives and is one of the outstanding beekeepers in the county, made numerous suggestions in management and control of bees.

The president, Mrs. Katherine Keis, of Shelly, announced that the next meeting will be held on Saturday, August 2nd, at her place, where her colony of bees will be inspected.

Numerous hives were opened at the Robinson apiary and the condition of the honey and brood observed.

Several of the beekeepers reported that in some of the strong colonies throughout the county between 50 and 75 pounds of honey have been collected while in others there is little, if any, surplus stored.

Field Plays Brilliant Ball
For the Bristol Team

LANGHORNE, June 27—With fifteen hits to its credit, the Langhorne contingent moved into third place in the second division of the Bristol Suburban League by beating the Democrat Club, 9-4, on Playwick field.

The Langhorne boys played loose ball field but made up for it by their work with the budgeon. Walt Rothenbach, "Dipper" Keen, and "Freddie" Briegle paced the Langhorne hitters with 10 of the fifteen hits. Rothenbach had a double and three singles.

Larry Russell was the winning pitcher although he received assistance from Bob Mitchell. Bob Norris pitched for the losing club. "Sonny" Field played brilliantly in the field for the Bristol team, going into right field three times to snare flies labelled for hits.

54 Patrols Attend Scout Camporee

Five hundred parents and Cubs will be present to enjoy the picnic on a club pack basis. The activities will be in charge of Harvey Swartley and Fred Schmidt, chairmen of the Cub scout planning committee.

A meeting of the air scouts of the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the Quakertown airport, on Monday evening, gave the senior scout group of the council an opportunity to secure full information in reference to the air scout encampment which will be held at Olmstead Field, Middletown, Pa., August 18th to 28th, under sponsorship of the Army Air Corps. Lt. Robert Fetzner was introduced by Bruce Mathewson, chairman of the air scouts of the council. He explained the program and unusual events which will be presented at the 1947 encampment. Last year there were seven scouts from Doylestown Squadron that were successful in being part of the honor squadron in the encampment. It is expected that the Council will be well represented at the 1947 event.

The finance committee of the Council has announced that all plans have been made for the annual maintenance campaign which will begin on September 15th, when a meeting of workers from the council will be held for the purpose of starting the campaign to raise to the required sum of $30,000 for operation of the council for the next year. The council campaign each year at this time is preceded by a series of meetings of each district at which time the District campaign chairmen, community chairmen and workers gather to detail for their share of the undertaking. The five-year program of the Council produces excellent results in giving the scout program to many more boys of Bucks County. The finance committee has reported that there is a total of 1763 boys, over 700 scouts, and 80 units. The committees are well pleased with the fact that 669 boys have already signed up for summer camp at Camp Ockanickon with only eight troops of the council yet to register for this part of the program. The camp staff will go to camp on July 2nd with the first group arriving on July 6th.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Charles H. Weller Pastor
Bristol Methodist Church

"Dear Lord, kind Lord, gracious Lord, I pray that Thou wouldst look on all I love, tenderly today." I would be grateful with a great appreciation for the love and ministry of family and friends, who add so much of meaning to life. I would remember that thou hast led believers of all ages to the throne of the eternal with the familiar "Our Father." In the Nazareth home and carpenter shop was found the pattern of Divine love. Help all who read these lines to be as noble and fine as Joseph the carpenter. Amen.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

Almost here . . . in just three more days the most eagerly awaited fishing season in this section opens when bass and pickerel become legal at 12.01 a. m., next Tuesday, July 1.

From all advance reports scores of anglers will be on hand for the opening, with many planning to start at midnight.

The same daily creels and legal sizes as in 1946 will be observed again this year. Six is the total number of bass that may be taken in one day, and this is also the case with pickerel. Bass, to be "keepers," must be nine inches in length, while pickerel must be at least 12 inches long. The season will continue through November 30th.

Two best spots locally are the Canal and Silver Lake. Both are stocked each year and both hold some nice fish. The Neshaun Creek is also a good bass stream. My guess, however, is that more fish will be taken in the Canal, from Bristol to Morrisville, than in the other two bodies of water combined.

To mention just a few of the artificial lures that are used extensively for bass in this section are included the following: the Heddon Crazy Crawler, the Jitterbug, the Johnson Silver Minnow and the Jointed Pike-Minnow. To list the hundreds of others that will be used on Tuesday would probably fill three columns!

Double honors . . . to Ollie Hobbs, representing the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association, in the annual meet of the National Amateur Casters Association in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, last Sunday, went honors in two events. He took first place in the 56-ounce novelty bait casting event with a score of 72. Second place honors went to a Newark, N. J., caster, with a score of 58. In the main event of the tournament, Hobbs placed third. This was the 56-ounce accuracy event. His score in this event was 73. Barney Berlinger, Philadelphia, won the event with a score of 95, while a Holmesburg caster was second with a 91. Approximately 300 contestants from every section of the United States participated.

Very bold . . . last Sunday afternoon at four o'clock a large doe deer was observed walking along the fence of Bristol Processing Co. toward Beaver street. When she reached Beaver street she leisurely started across in the direction of Silver Lake. Her gait was so slow, as a matter of fact, that one of the Nelbauer buses had to stop to avoid striking the animal. Several reports of deer have been coming to my attention in the last several days. Deer have been seen in Bristol Terrace, Emilie, Edgely, and on the property of the Paterson Parchment Paper Company.

Scores . . . first place honors in the 50-target Lewis class blue-rock match, held over the Edgely Rod & Gun Club traps last Sunday afternoon, were split four ways when four men turned in scores of 47. The joint winners of the first class were: F. R. Davies, Wayne Warner, J. Kish, and Joseph King. Second place honors in the first class were shared jointly by William Quinn and M. Heckler, each turning in scores of 46.

High men in the second class were J. McEue and F. Flanders, when each broke 4 targets. W. W. Warner was second high in this class with a score of 44. J. Thompson and George Braden were high in the third class with scores of 42, while J. S. Lynn and J. Katz were second with scores of 41.

M. Heckler won the 12-pair doubles event with a score of 23. William Quinn was second in this event with a 21, while J. S. Lynn took third place with a 19.

Fishing . . . locally, fishing continues to be poor and spotty. Some small catches of catfish have been reported from Silver Lake and Maple Beach. Weather has been the main reason that conditions continue to remain poor.

Excellent record . . . of the 228 day-old chicks received a few weeks ago by the Edgely-Bristol Clubs only 27 have been lost. This is an excellent record, since casualties are usually high in the first two or three weeks. The remaining 211 birds are growing rapidly. Should you be interested in viewing these chicks I'm sure you'll be cordially received. The pens are located at the home of George Blinliff, Sr., Edgely avenue, Edgely.

SOBY POST DEFEATS BADENHAUSEN NINE

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 27 —The Soby Post Legion team, of Langhorne, scored its eighth win in nine starts last evening by downing the Badenhause team, 8-1, on the Bensalem school field.

The Solyomen started its scoring spree in the fourth inning and wound up the game by scoring five runs in the final two frames. The winners had nine hits while Badenhause had five.

Dale Miller went the route for the Legionnaires and was exceptionally strong in the pinches. He was aided by fine support, only one error being committed. Miller struck out seven batters.

"Hughie" Deans started on the mound for the boiler-makers and pitched until he was relieved by Bob Young in the ninth.
